LEGISLATURE IN SPECIAL SESSION

The Good Roads Association of Virginia having secured two-thirds of the members of the General Assembly to sign a call, the Governor will call the General Assembly together on Wednesday, August 13th, at which the State road matters will receive special attention, and it looks good for roads that the law-making body will consider the great question in special session.

That there will be many views as to how $11,000,000 shall be spent and in what counties spent, there can be no doubt, and how Virginia will provide for her half of said fund will cause some retrenchment and some increase in taxes. But with honest hard workers at the task we are very hopeful that the next two years will witness real road work going on in many counties of the Old Dominion. And we believe Governor Davis will lend his aid wherever needed

Machen Will Help Enforce Dry Laws

Director Lewis H. Machen of the legislative reference bureau, whose term will expire next week, will then become general counsel for the department of prohibition, having yesterday accepted the offer made by Commissioner Peters.

The department of prohibition desired to avail itself immediately of Mr. Machen's services, but he felt that he could not make the change, in justice to the bureau, until his successor is ready to begin work.

Mr. Machen was the moving spirit in the organization of the legislative reference bureau and was appointed by Governor Stuart as its director in 1914. Since then he has rendered exceedingly valuable services to the state, especially to members of the general assembly in the preparation of bills. His compilation of the prohibition laws of the dry states has been particularly useful throughout the country in the drafting of laws making prohibition effective. The Virginia law, which is based largely on his researches, is the model followed closely in the preparation of the national code.

He began his public career as one of the presidential electors for Virginia in 1900. He was senator from the Fourteenth district, 1904-08 and in 1913 was a strong candidate for the nomination for lieutenant governor. He was a member of the law firm of Machen & Jesse at Alexandria until he came to Richmond in charge of the bureau. Governor Davis appointed him as a member of the state council of defense and of the war history commission

Hixburg

Mr. H. B. Swan, of Bluefield, W. Va., spent first of the week with home folks here.

Mr. Morton Rosser ran his car into the auto of Mr. Aubrey Dickerson, causing Mr. Dickerson to have to stop. Mr. Robert Hubbard was trailing Mr. Dickerson closely that when the car came to a stop he bumped into him so hard as to knock him from the seat and through the wind shield, cutting his face badly in several places. Mr. Rosser took Mr. Dickerson to Prospect to a doctor and then to his home. Fortunately Mrs. Dickerson came through the wreck without being hurt and Mrs. Hubbard was so much excited that Mr. Hubbard had to take her home.

Again we repeat that it is a bad idea for one car to follow so closely another.

We notice from the way our Buckingham correspondent answered a pointed question that he is in some respects a Solomon. And that prompts me to ask him what I should say to my wife should she bake a nice cake, take it to a picnic and display its good looks, and then remark: "Oh! how she regretted that she had come off without the cake knife, but she hoped there would be enough left and make some suggestion as to the cake back in the basket.

The Olive Branch Sunday school exercises were of the most appropriate selection and beautifully rendered. Too much praise cannot be given the superintendent and teachers, for such a program requires energy and patience. And I must not fail to make mention of the manner and taste in which the church was decorated for the occasion. Mr. Mosser, the pastor, was made happy by the events of the day and complimented the superintendent, the teachers and the scholars and said it reminded him of the big Baptist Sunday school of four thousand members at Waco, Texas.

Thomas Jones, of West Virginia, a colored man, who was raised in this county, near Hurtsville, and two other colored men were killed in an automobile wreck. Jones' body was brought here and buried at the home of his uncle, Alex Jones.

The public road near the river at Hurtsville has been blocked for several days by a saw mill company in bringing in a new boiler; and it is stuck in the road at a point that people cannot pass, and the team of eight mules cannot move it. The citizens think it the duty of our county road officials to have the road so worked that there be no such places, or go and move this machine out of the way. Will they go and look at it and make some suggestion as to the best way to move it? —as surveys and suggestions are all we get. For it has been about eleven months since we had the promise that the narrow place on the creek hill below Marshall's store would be looked after.

Our farmers are about done harvesting wheat and there is some complaint that the heads are not so well filled in some fields. But with the increased acreage a larger crop than usual may be expected.

Miss Ellen James, of Graham, spent a few days with her cousin, Miss Edith Harwood, en route to her home from Westhampton College.

The recent rains and high high water did much damage to our crops.

Mike Neuls

Mrs. Mary A. E. Robertson

Mrs. Mary A. E. Robertson, 78 years of age, died Friday evening at 7 o'clock at the residence of her son, Thomas H. Robertson, near Vera. Mrs Robertson had been sick since Christmas, when she had influenza, and had never fully recovered. She had been confined to her bed for about ten weeks and all that loving hands could do was done, but God saw best to take her.

Deceased was born in and spent all her life in Appomattox county, and survived her husband since 1900.

Mrs. Robertson became a member of Liberty Chapel church when a child, of which she was still a member at the time of her death.

Funeral services were conducted at the home Saturday afternoon by her pastor, Rev. J. H Gordon. The remains were laid to rest in the family burying ground by the side of her husband. Nearer My God to Thee and Will the Circle Be Unbroken? were sung.

The flowers were carried by her granddaughters and were numerous and beautiful.

The pallbearers were Messrs. N. R. Featherston, T. A. Garrett, John Megginson, S. T. Megginson, Milton Reynolds and F. Ferguson

The deceased is survived by three sons—T. P., G. W. and T. H. Robertson, and two daughters—Mrs. Eulalia Carneflx and Mrs. Nancy Kyle, all of Appomattox county.

She was a kind and loving mother, and was loved by all who knew her.

Her sickness is ended, her troubles all gone;
Oh think how she moaned and suffered with pain
In the long hours as we soothed her in vain,
Till God in His mercy sent down from above
An angel that whispered a message of love.

Letter From Overseas

Private Cyril M. Coleman, with the Army of Occupation, Germany, to his mother, Mrs. A. A. Coleman, Toga, Va.

May 11.

Dear Mama:

As today is Mother's Day, every soldier in the A. E. F. is requested by the commander-in-chief to write to his best friend in this old world; and as I am fortunate enough to have one I deem it my duty to write to you this beautiful Sabbath morn. I only wish that I could be holding to your apron string" instead of writing, 5000 miles away; but a silent message beats none at all, doesn't it?

I hope the time is not far off when I will be back to home and loved ones in the hills of Virginia, the dearest spot in all the world to me.

One year ago today I was on the transport "Manchuria" several hundred miles from the port of St. Nazaire. The old ocean was pretty rough, the little submarine chasers were huddled around us and every eye was on the lookout for the subs; but we came through it luckily. The next day was clear and pretty and it was then we got the first glimpse of the hills of sunny France; and from then up until now we have been moving toward Berlin. Although I have not won a D. S. C. or any medals of honor, I feel that I can look the world in the face and say I have done my little bit.

I have had to take a lot of unnecessary abuse, as all soldiers have to do, which would have been harder for me to have taken had it not been for the word "Mother", which ought to be enough to protect any boy. But I know what little I have had to go through with is nothing compared with yours. But it's all over now and I hope the future holds pleasure without measure for mother.

I will close now, hoping to see you all by the last of June. Oceans of love.

S. L. Ferguson Declared Nominee For State Senate

We, the undersigned chairmen of the Democratic executive committees of the counties of Appomattox, Charlotte, Buckingham and Fluvanna, comprising the 18th Senatorial District of Virginia, having received the declaration of only one person as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the office of State Senate, to be voted for at the Democratic primary to be held on the 5th of August, next, as provided by law, to-wit: the declaration of S. L. Ferguson, therefore, we hereby declare the said S. L. Ferguson, of Appomattox, Va., to be the Democratic nominee in said district for said office of State Senator, to be voted for at the general election to be held on the 4th of November, 1919.

J. B. BOATWRIGHT, Chm.,
Dem. Committee of Buckingham Co.
by J. R. H. as authorized.

S. L. Ferguson Candidate For The Senate To Fill Vacancy Caused By The Death Of Senator Gayle.

To the Voters of the Eighteenth Senatorial District:

When I announced my candidacy for the Senate in the 18th Senatorial District, comprising the counties of Appomattox, Buckingham, Charlotte and Fluvanna, last January, it was for a seat in the Senate in the next regular session of the General Assembly, which convenes January, 1920. I submitted my claims for the Democratic nomination in the Democratic primary to be held August 5, 1919. No one opposed me for the position, and I have been declared the regular Democratic nominee for the State Senate in this District, to be voted for in the general election, which takes place November, 4, 1919, and I trust the Democrats and my friends of the district will give me their cordial support. Until now, no one has announced their candidacy to oppose me as the Democratic nominee in the general election; but whether I have opposition or not, I believe that the Democratic voters and my friends of this district will give me their cordial support and elect me for the Senate at the November election, and to this end, my friends and I will conduct such campaign in the district as may be necessary.

The Governor has just called a special session of the General Assembly to meet August 13, and issued proclamation ordering a special election in all House and Senate districts to fill vacancies on August 5, and I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Senate in this district to be voted for August 5, to fill vacancy in this district caused by the death of the lamented Senator Gayle last December, subject to the endorsement of the Democratic party of the district, and I trust it will be the pleasure of the Democrats of the district to endorse me as their candidate for the unexpired term and to vote for and elect me at the special election to be held August 5, at every precinct in every county in the district.

Whether I have opposition or not in the special election or general election, I would consider it an honor for the Democrats and my friends of the district to turn out on election day and give me a big vote, as an evidence of their confidence in me as their representative in the General Assembly of Virginia.

I am a strong and earnest advocate of progressive road and school legislation, and for all other legislation which will in the judgment of myself and constituents better the conditions in my district, and the State at large.

Assuring you of my best efforts to verify the good opinion of many expressions which have come to me from friends of the district and of the implied confidence you have reposed in me by making me your Democratic nominee without opposition, I am,

Sincerely yours,
S. L. FERGUSON.
